the Future is Now

VOL. 1
APRIL 2001

In 2001, the International Institute for Environment and Development (IIED) marks its 30th anniversary. Thirty years ago, IIED's founder, Barbara Ward and René Dubos published Only One Earth that helped to set the agenda at the Stockholm Conference on the Human Environment. For the Rio UN Conference on Environment and Development, IIED published a series of reports as a brief and accessible guide to the key issues.

In preparation for the UN World Summit on Sustainable Development (WSSD) in Johannesburg, in September 2002, IIED is launching a new series, The Future is Now, to learn from the past and to inform the future. This title is the first of four in the series. We hope it will give the reader an overview of what was accomplished at Rio and the challenges that remain and must be tackled at Johannesburg.

ABOUT IIED

The International Institute for Environment and Development (IIED) is an independent, non-profit research institute working in the field of sustainable development.

IIED aims to provide expertise and leadership in researching and achieving sustainable development at local, national, regional and global levels. In alliance with others we seek to help shape a future that ends global poverty and delivers and sustains efficient and equitable management of the world's natural resources.
